DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Tashiro et al. [US 5,515,022] in view of Hirohashi [JP 6-112047].

Tashiro et al. discloses a multi-layered chip inductor [1] comprising:

- at least one conductive pattern [31, 32] having a thickness of 10 micro-meters or more and a width to thickness ratio from 1 to less than 5 [see column 6, lines 12-25];
- at least one pair of insulating layers [22, 23] formed of magnetic material sandwiching the conductive pattern; and
- a thick conductor [35] connecting the conductive pattern.

Tashiro et al. discloses the instant claimed invention except for the inductor component being formed of a ceramic material.

Hirohashi discloses a ceramic chip inductor.

Art Unit: 2832

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skilled in the art at the time the invention was made to form the inductor component of Tashiro et al. with a ceramic material, as suggested by Hirohashi, for the purpose of controlling the frequency response.
